

Gearing Up

Contributed by Adam Rice
Wednesday, 06 February 2008

I can feel the excitement starting to build once again. I've been in the middle of some projects for Iwata-Medea. It's been awhile since I've been inspired to write new things. For awhile it was just all the old stuff that got cut and pasted into an email or forum post. But now I see some of the tell-tale signs that I'm gearing up for some writing and creative thinking ahead.

There are good things in the works. Very good things.